The 195 Black Friday deals you can still get

Black Friday is technically a thing of the past, but many of the best deals we told you about yesterday — including deep discounts on the AirPods Pro 3, the Pixel Watch 4, and the latest Kindle Paperwhite — are still kicking for now. In some cases, gadgets are out of stock at certain stores, or certain configurations are tougher to find at this point. You don't have to worry, though, as we've confirmed that every deal below is both in stock and selling at a great price.

Below are the results of our weeks spent sifting through deals and continually adding new, noteworthy deals as we come across them. We're coming to you live once again today, so if you're shopping, we think it's worth returning here every few hours to see our latest finds. While we've primarily focused on tech — we are The Verge, after all — we've also included discounts on tools, Legos, and board games.

If you're looking for deals on digital gifts, we've also highlighted great deals on streaming services, including HBO Max, Paramount Plus, and a bundle comprising Disney Plus and Hulu. Headspace and MasterClass have also discounted their annual subscriptions, if you're open to trying meditation or want to pick up a few new skills.
