A Community Rallies Around Its Educators In This Grocer’s Moving Ad

It has often been said that shared meals are capable of bringing people together in surprisingly meaningful ways. Leaning into this basic truth, French grocery chain Intermarché continues its series of ads spotlighting the sometimes bittersweet but ultimately heartwarming relationships of our lives and the role that food can play in them.

Recommended articles
https://www.adweek.com/creativity/a-community-rallies-around-its-educators-in-this-grocers-moving-ad/