

A day in your life

A Day In Your Life, an annual photography competition curated by award-winning photographer Alison Jackson, is open to aspiring photographers aged 4 to 24 in Kensington & Chelsea (London UK). The project aims to support under-represented youth through skills-led workshops and offers opportunities in the creative industry. This Thursday, an exhibition of winning entries will be held at Cadogan Hall, with esteemed judges in attendance. The initiative, now expanding to Westminster (London, UK), provides education, mentorships, and job opportunities. Alison Jackson emphasizes equal opportunities, with prizes focused on education and vocational training. Sponsors, including Cadogan Estates, aim to impact the community positively by opening doors to young creatives. Previous winners had their work showcased at prestigious venues like Saatchi Gallery, SaatchiArt, PhotoLondon, RBKC Town Hall, and The Duke of York Square.
