Lofi beats to kill and relax to.

Katana Zero, a game with one of the chillest soundtracks this side of Minecraft, is the next indie hit coming to mobile via Netflix. In the game, you play a samurai tasked with using his powers of precognition and sword to kill baddies in one hit. Problem is, he can get one-hit KO'd, too forcing the samurai to rewind and try again.

Katana Zero launches on mobile via Netflix soon.
