British Women’s Communications Network Bloom Names Latest Leadership Team

Bloom, the professional network created to champion women in communications, has named a new leadership team. Caroline Mastoras, senior account executive for media at Salesforce, takes on the mantle of president while Sophia Durrani, head of strategic planning for the U.K. government account at Manning Gottlieb OMD, becomes vice president.

Recommended articles
https://www.adweek.com/agencies/british-womens-communications-network-bloom-names-latest-leadership-team/