Congress Releases 3,000 Russian Ads Found on Facebook

Members of the U.S. House Intelligence Committee have released thousands of Russia-linked Facebook ads, providing a closer look at how outside actors used the platform during the 2016 presidential election and who they targeted. While it’s been more than six months since Facebook and other social platforms including Google and Twitter revealed they had found… http://www.adweek.com/digital/congress-releases-3000-russian-ads-found-on-facebook/
