

COP26 Open Letter on Climate Disinformation Targets Tech Platforms

An open letter has been signed by sustainability organizations and advertisers which aims to send a message to climate change summit COP26's presidency and the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) as well as the world's largest technology platforms including Facebook, TikTok and Twitter to tackle the spread of climate mis/disinformation.

Don't miss The Business of Marketing podcast featuring leading c-suite executives sharing insights on the importance of leveraging the intersectionality of marketing, finance, technology, HR and the boardroom to drive business growth. Tune in.

Recommended articles

<https://www.adweek.com/agencies/cop26-open-letter-on-climate-disinformation-targets-tech-platforms/>