Creative Mornings Melbourne—Purpose (Online)

24 April 2020 8:30am – 9:30am
Melbourne

Registrations are now open Creative Mornings Melbourne‘s very first online event! The theme for the month of April is Purpose.

This month’s speaker is Sui Zhen, who will be discussing breaking down the creative process to find purpose.

You are here. Being here means you are alive, that you exist and the mere fact that you exist means you have purpose.

“Purpose” does not have to be something grandiose. In fact, it can exist in all sizes and dimensions, separately, or even all at once.

What makes you light up inside? What brings you peace? What are the big ideas that bring meaning to your days? And what are the specific details about each of these feelings that you’re drawn to?

However big or however small, draw your strength and inspiration from your purpose. Give yourself permission to approach your decisions with your purpose in mind. The more you do things in line with your purpose, the less you'll default to what you're conditioned to do.

When in doubt, take the steps you need to follow the path of your own joy. This path is your purpose.

April 24, 8:30am – 9:30am AEST via Zoom.

Register to secure your spot!

https://www.shillingtoneducation.com/blog/creative-mornings-melbourne-purpose-online/