Get the Nintendo Switch for 20 percent off today

eBay has a storewide 20 percent discount going on today, which also applies to some of the biggest electronics, including the Nintendo Switch. As spotted by Kinja Deals, by using the promo code PSPRING20, . (Update: while the original $224 listing has sold out, you can still get the Switch from other retailers for 20 percent off.) It's probably the best deal on the usually full-price console we've seen yet.

eBay's discount is off any order $25 or more, which means the Switch alone fully meets the coupon's criteria. Other electronics the discount applies to includes a PlayStation VR Doom bundle, Dyson vacuums, and Xbox games. Gift cards are excluded from the offer.

The deal comes a few days after the Nintendo Switch celebrated its first birthday and an announcement that a slew of new games is headed to the Switch, including the highly anticipated Super Smash Bros.

Update March 9th, 1:00 PM ET: This article has been updated to reflect that while the original listing has sold out, you can still apply the discount to a Switch carried by other sellers.
