‘Going Public’: Learn the Art and Science of Valuation

Opinions expressed by Entrepreneur contributors are their own.

With only a few episodes left in the season, the founders of TREBEL, NGT Academy and Hammitt are getting close to making some key decisions on their companies’ public offerings.

Watch the seventh episode right now by clicking here.

TREBEL goes in for the close to see if they ultimately land an investment from billionaire investor Chris Burch, while all of the founders spend some time with KPMG. The global professional services firm will hear investor pitches from each founder and provide immediate feedback on the business models, the metrics of the Reg.A offerings and their strategies to raise capital.
