Google Drops Search Console Reporting For Six Structured Data Types via @sejournal, @MattGSouthern

Google will stop reporting six deprecated structured data types in Search Console and remove them from the Rich Results Test and appearance filters.

- Search Console and Rich Results Test stop reporting on deprecated structured data types.
- Rankings are unaffected; you can keep the markup, it just won’t show rich results.
- API returns continue through December.

https://www.searchenginejournal.com/google-drops-search-console-reporting-for-six-structured-data-types/555560/