Google & Optimizing for Local “Near Me” Searches in Search Results

Ever since searchers started doing more Google voice searches with the additional keywords “near me”, many site owners began incorporating “near me” into their titles and content, because in theory, if someone searches for “near me”, then those pages should rank when someone does a search that includes “near me.” John Mueller addressed this and […]

The post Google & Optimizing for Local “Near Me” Searches in Search Results appeared first on The SEM Post.

http://www.thesempost.com/google-using-near-keywords-search-results/