Google Testing “Relevant History” Section in Mobile Search Results

Google is testing a new feature in the mobile search results – a drop down section labelled as “Relevant History” that appears at the very top of the mobile search results. It shows previously visited pages directly related to the search. Henny Roggy shared the screenshots on Twitter showing the feature. Here is how it […]

The post Google Testing “Relevant History” Section in Mobile Search Results appeared first on The SEM Post.

http://www.thesempost.com/google-testing-relevant-history-section-mobile-search-results/