Mother’s Day is nearly a month away, and for many of us, it’s becoming increasingly unlikely we’ll be able to celebrate the holiday with the women in our life up-close and personal. But just because you might be in the middle of social distancing, doesn’t mean you can’t give the extraordinary mother figures in your life a little something to brighten their day.

In fact, all of these deliverable gifts below come completely packaged and ready-to-be opened on your Mom’s doorstep in time for the holiday. Better yet, all come with contact-free delivery to help keep your loved ones safe.

While it may not be the Mother’s Day you’d imagined, these gifts are bound to bring a smile to the face of the special women in your life. And that alone makes it completely worth it.
