

How to watch the February 2023 Nintendo Direct

The first Nintendo Direct of the year is almost upon us – and it sounds like it might be a big one. While Nintendo hasn't provided any real details, the company did say to expect "roughly 40 minutes of information" about games coming out in the first half of 2023.

But, as this is Nintendo, there's a good chance there will be plenty of surprises. So you'll probably want to tune in live.

The event will be streaming on YouTube at 5PM ET on February 8th. You can find the stream right here or check out the embed at the top of this page.

<https://www.theverge.com/2023/2/8/23589414/nintendo-direct-february-2023-watch-live-date-time>