How Would You Spend $309 Billion? Here’s How Andrew Carnegie Did It.

Andrew Carnegie sold his company for the equivalent of 2.1 percent of the American GDP, then spent the rest of his life giving it away. https://www.entrepreneur.com/article/317840