In an Incredible Performance, College Softball Player Pitches 21-Strikeout Perfect Game

Despite making history on Sunday, Hope Trautwein is no stranger to pitching lights out.

April 14, 2021 1 min read

A college softball player from Texas made history on Sunday when she pitched a 21-strikeout perfect game, ABC News reports.

Hope Trautwein, a senior at the University of North Texas, led her team to a 3-0 win over Arkansas-Pine Bluff by striking out every single player on the opposing team. In doing so, she became first player in NCAA Division I softball history to throw 21 strikeouts in a row.

Related: How Student Athletes Can Prepare to Become Entrepreneurs

“It’s so cool to see the people I don’t even know who are able to offer their congratulations and get excited about a sport I love so much,” she said on ABC’s World News Tonight.

> The final out of the programs first ever PERFECT GAME !!@hopetraut goes the distance!
>
> 7.0 IP, 0 H, 0 BB, 21 Ks

https://www.entrepreneur.com/article/369417