You might not realize it, but millionaires are often just regular people with regular jobs. As Entrepreneur Network partner Phil Town puts it, if you simply do the right things and follow the path others have established, you too can reach millionaire status. Millionaires make simple, smart decisions when making — and saving — their money.

In this video, Town describes the habits that made millionaires millionaires. People who became millionaires may have different personality traits or backgrounds, but most of them probably did the followings things:

1. They did not spend money on unnecessary expenses.
2. They saved what they earned.
3. They invested their money so it grew over time.
