LG’s acclaimed C8 OLED 4K TV is just $948 at Google Express

This story is part of a group of stories called

Only the best deals on Verge-approved gadgets get the Good Deals stamp of approval, so if you’re looking for a deal on your next gadget or gift from major retailers like Amazon, Walmart, Best Buy, Target, and more, this is the place to be.

Vox Media has affiliate partnerships. These do not influence editorial content, though Vox Media may earn commissions for products purchased via affiliate links. For more information, see our ethics policy.

It’s not often you find a too-good-to-be-true deal on an 4K HDR OLED TV, but Google Express is coming through on Amazon Prime Day, per Android Central. The 55-inch LG C8 OLED is $948 right now, the lowest price that we’ve seen.

To get this discount price, simply click the “add to cart” button at Google Express. Doing so will knock $548 off of the total, then enter the code FOHTTK at checkout to save another $100 off of the original price. This deal ends tomorrow, or sooner if supply runs dry.

Compared to a backlit LED or LCD television, an OLED TV has per-pixel control for unparalleled color contrast, and it can display true blacks for a more accurate picture. The C8 debuted in early 2018, and, unlike the usually-cheaper B8 OLED, it has an a9 processor for reduced noise and smoother gradation in the picture. LG’s OLEDs have been going on sale more frequently in recent months, but this might be the significant price drop that you’ve been waiting for.

We’ve been collecting other anti-Prime Day 2019 deals, and we’ve got you covered whether you’re avoiding shopping at Amazon, or just looking for more options.

https://www.theverge.com/good-deals/2019/7/15/20695277/lg-4k-tv-c8-oled-google-express-deals-sale-amazon-prime-day-2019