Lightscape at Brooklyn Botanical Garden

Brooklyn Botanical Garden presents Lightscape—a wintry spectacle of one million dazzling lights.

The hibernating garden is transformed into an interactive, multimedia experience featuring 42 sculptures, 18 works of light art, 20 treetop pieces and literary projections by acclaimed Brooklyn poet Jacqueline Woodson. Visitors are encouraged to document their experience as the garden hosts stunning landscapes made entirely from lights. The mile-long trail can take up to an hour for full exploration, also offering holiday concessions ranging from s'mores to spiked hot chocolate. The installation sponsored by ConEdison, puts nature at the forefront of enchanting us and a twinkle in evening plans!

General access to Brooklyn Botanical Garden closes daily at 3:30pm, only individuals with Lightscape tickets will be admitted in the evenings. The last available time to enter is 8:30 pm and the show closes nightly at 9:30pm.
