

Monday's top tech news: Twitter's third-party client ban seems like no accident

Netflix just got a flashy redesign on the iPhone.

Check out this video from Janum Trivedi, formerly a senior software engineer at Netflix, as he demonstrates the streaming service's revamped iOS app that rolled out today – and that he had a hand in making. The new UI is so fluid. So responsive. So... bouncy? Yeah, maybe even “delightful.”

If only Netflix would show similar love to the stagnant Apple TV app.

Trivedi now works on the team behind the promising new Arc browser.

<https://www.theverge.com/2023/1/16/23557076/january-16-2023-tech-news-liveblog>