(NY) Design Tools for the Future

If you’re curious to learn about new design tools, this panel discussion with artists, developers and makers is for you!

Time-consuming analog processes from the past have now become more efficient and quicker than ever to complete tasks. With the evolution of paintbrushes to digital brushstrokes and canvases to Wacom tablets, this talk will explore the next generation of design tools that enable seamless production. Learn how these products and platforms will impact the creative process.

Get your ticket

The event takes place on Thursday, 12 April 2018 at the Museum of Arts and Design from 6:30 PM – 8:00 PM.

https://www.shillingtoneducation.com/blog/ny-design-tools-future/