The Alpha Z Pro has a sleek and sophisticated black exterior and a six-axis gyroscope that helps it maintain a smooth flight path. That combined with its seven-to-nine-minute flying time on a full charge, it's well-equipped to capture a wide variety of video content.

The Flying Fox Drone, on the other hand, complements the Alpha Z with its clean silver exterior. It also offers a little more flight time with an average of nine-to-twelve minutes when maxing out its 3.7V, 2,000mAh LiPo battery.

Together these drones could serve as a fun and creative force for any business.
