Paula Scher: Public Theater

Through 7 December 2019
Manchester

Don’t miss your last chance to see some of legendary graphic designer Paula Scher’s work right at the Manchester School of Art’s amazing exhibition.

An exhibition of poster designs by celebrated graphic designer, Paula Scher, partner of Pentagram New York.

“As long as I’ve been practicing design, I have been most obsessed with the connection between the work I create and its public. It began when I was a record cover designer in the 70s, working in an area of pop culture where audiences made a connection between graphic design and music. Later in my career, I was happiest working in the public realm where the work existed in the physical form: on the streets, in public spaces, on packaging, and later, through identity systems for cultural organizations, particularly theaters and art museums.

I love the scale of the poster. I love big things outside. I love working on environments and environmental graphics. And I love when other people engage with them".

Through 7 December 2019, 10am-6pm. Manchester School of Art, Vertical Gallery, Benzie Building, High Ormond Street, Manchester M15 6BG.
