Privacy Experts Implore Lawmakers to Give Consumers Control Over Their Data

Data privacy experts and advocates encouraged federal lawmakers at a Senate Commerce Committee hearing Wednesday to draft strict data protection regulation that would give consumers vastly more control over their personal data. During the hearing, the second of several scheduled before the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science and Transportation, Republican and Democratic senators expressed grave… https://www.adweek.com/programmatic/privacy-experts-implore-lawmakers-to-give-consumers-control-over-their-data/