The wireless charger comes with a built-in magnetic plate designed to stick securely to your phone so that it stays on while charging. This can be great for use in a car or airplane where the surface might change during turns. It also comes with fast-charging capabilities, promising to get an iPhone up to full juice faster than its own typical charging accessory. It's worth noting that the Speedy Mag is designed for use with iPhone models 12 and newer.

To learn more about this charger, you can check out its reviews in the Entrepreneur Store. One 4/5-star review there reads, “Works as expected, nice to have these in coat pockets or in my bag on the go so there’s always juice to top off the phone. Doesn’t last as long with the 15pro as other phones but gets job done.”
