

Steam's Summer Sale drops games like Baldur's Gate 3 to their best price

For many of us, summer can get just too hot to go outside and have fun. Thankfully, though, this season brings more than just heatwaves – there are also sales like Steam's, so you can enjoy gaming while keeping cool inside. Along with discounting the Steam Deck as we highlighted earlier this week, Valve is also now discounting a ton of games through July 11th as a part of the Steam Summer Sale.

Other newer games are also on sale, like Dragon's Dogma 2, with its endearing NPC pawns that make the game a true delight. Normally $69.99, you can buy the fantasy action RPG game for just $55.99. Even the odd yet strangely engrossing Animal Well is on sale for $22.49, which is a small $2.50 discount but also the best price we've seen since its release in May.

<https://www.theverge.com/2024/6/28/24187641/steam-summer-sale-baldurs-gate-3-dave-the-diver-deal-sale>