August 31, 2021 3 min read

This story originally appeared on Zacks

Potlatch (PCH) closed the most recent trading day at $51.95, moving -0.99% from the previous trading session. This move lagged the S&P 500’s daily loss of 0.14%.

Coming into today, shares of the timberland owner and wood products company had gained 1.9% in the past month. In that same time, the Construction sector gained 3.24%, while the S&P 500 gained 3.13%.

Wall Street will be looking for positivity from PCH as it approaches its next earnings report date. In that report, analysts expect PCH to post earnings of $1.07 per share. This would mark a year-over-year decline of 10.83%. Meanwhile, our latest consensus estimate is calling for revenue of $288.8 million, down 7.75% from the prior-year quarter.

For the full year, our Zacks Consensus Estimates are projecting earnings of $6.56 per share and revenue of $1.36 billion, which would represent changes of +123.13% and +30.72%, respectively, from the prior year.

Investors might also notice recent changes to analyst estimates for PCH. These revisions help to show the ever-changing nature of near-term business trends. With this in mind, we can consider positive estimate revisions a sign of optimism about the company’s business outlook.

Based on our research, we believe these estimate revisions are directly related to near-team stock moves. We developed the Zacks Rank to capitalize on this phenomenon. Our system takes these estimate changes into account and delivers a clear, actionable rating model.

The Zacks Rank system, which ranges from #1 (Strong Buy) to #5 (Strong Sell), has an impressive outside-audited track record of outperformance, with #1 stocks generating an average annual return of +25% since 1988. The Zacks Consensus EPS estimate has moved 5.16% lower within the past month. PCH currently has a Zacks Rank of #5 (Strong Sell).

Looking at its valuation, PCH is holding a Forward P/E ratio of 8. Its industry sports an average Forward P/E of 13.93, so we one might conclude that PCH is trading at a discount comparatively.

Azure Power (AZRE) Tops Q1 Earnings and Revenue Estimates

Azure Power (AZRE) delivered earnings and revenue surprises of 533.33% and 3.11%, respectively, for the quarter ended June 2021. Do the numbers hold c…

August 30, 2021 4 min read

This story originally appeared on Zacks

Azure Power (AZRE) came out with quarterly earnings of $0.19 per share, beating the Zacks Consensus Estimate of $0.03 per share. This compares to earnings of $0.07 per share a year ago. These figures are adjusted for non-recurring items.

This quarterly report represents an earnings surprise of 533.33%. A quarter ago, it was expected that this solar power producer would post earnings of $0.06 per share when it actually produced a loss of $0.06, delivering a surprise of -200%.

Over the last four quarters, the company has surpassed consensus EPS estimates two times.

Azure Power, which belongs to the Zacks Solar industry, posted revenues of $59.7 million for the quarter ended June 2021, surpassing the Zacks Consensus Estimate by 3.11%. This compares to year-ago revenues of $52.2 million. The company has topped consensus revenue estimates two times over the last four quarters.

The sustainability of the stock's immediate price movement based on the recently-released numbers and future earnings expectations will mostly depend on management's commentary on the earnings call.

Azure Power shares have lost about 52.5% since the beginning of the year versus the S&P 500's gain of 20.1%.

What's Next for Azure Power?

While Azure Power has underperformed the market so far this year, the question that comes to investors' minds is: what's next for the stock?

There are no easy answers to this key question, but one reliable measure that can help investors address this is the company's earnings outlook. Not only does this include current consensus earnings expectations for the coming quarter(s), but also how these expectations have changed lately.

Empirical research shows a strong correlation between near-term stock movements and trends in earnings estimate revisions. Investors can track such revisions by themselves or rely on a tried-and-tested rating tool like the Zacks Rank, which has an impressive track record of harnessing the power of earnings estimate revisions.

Ahead of this earnings release, the estimate revisions trend for Azure Power was mixed. While the magnitude and direction of estimate revisions could change following the company's just-released earnings report, the current status translates into a Zacks Rank #3 (Hold) for the stock. So, the shares are expected to perform in line with the market in the near future. You can see the complete list of today's Zacks #1 Rank (Strong Buy) stocks here.

It will be interesting to see how estimates for the coming quarters and current fiscal year change in the days ahead. The current consensus EPS estimate is -$0.17 on $49 million in revenues for the coming quarter and -$0.02 on $251.7 million in revenues for the current fiscal year.

Investors should be mindful of the fact that the outlook for the industry can have a material impact on the performance of the stock as well. In terms of the Zacks Industry Rank, Solar is currently in the bottom 7% of the 250 plus Zacks industries. Our research shows that the top 50% of the Zacks-ranked industries outperform the bottom 50% by a factor of more than 2 to 1.
