

The 8 best shows to stream on Apple TV Plus

If nothing else, 2024 was the year Apple TV Plus firmly cemented itself as one of the best places to stream science fiction shows. This year, in particular, had a breadth of options, with sci-fi series ranging from cozy mysteries to old-fashioned noirs. Of course, there's more to the streaming service than just sci-fi – which is where the likes of Pachinko and Disclaimer come in. If you're looking for something new to watch on Apple TV Plus, here are a few great places to start.

a: hover]: shadow-highlight-franklin dark: [&>a: hover]: shadow-highlight-franklin franklin [&>a]: shadow-underline-black dark: [&>a]: shadow-underline-white">*Dark Matter

Based on the novel by Blake Crouch, Dark Matter is yet another story about parallel universes. But don't tune out yet: even if you're sick of the multiverse, this is worth checking out. The show follows a physicist named Jason (Joel Edgerton) who manages to kidnap himself. One version of Jason lives a quiet, happy, yet somewhat unfulfilled life as a college professor. But in another world, he's massively successful yet completely lonely – and will do anything to fix the latter.