We are looking for designers to help out over the next month and possibly beyond, to deliver a range of projects from identity to exhibition design, both digital and print.

Role Details

We are a dynamic creative agency and social enterprise, who exists to champion our clients causes. We works as a creative team and collectively strives to co-create positive change. We are famous for producing work that is simple, relevant and effective.

We are looking for designers to help out over the next month and possibly beyond, to deliver a range of projects from identity to exhibition design, both digital and print.

We are hoping you are dynamic, creative and capable of a range of styles. We've worked with several Shillington graduates and appreciate the speed and depth of thinking that we hope you have honed.

Ideally you're available to start on swiftly, could work on your own machine initially and are up for a creative adventure. We promise a range of live briefs, an exciting collective of people to work within an exciting environment.

Please respond to talent@thechampionagency.com with a link to your portfolio and no more than 50 words on what you think you would bring to Champion.
