The World’s Titanic-Sized Electronic Waste Problem Is Only Getting Bigger

In 2019, the global economy generated 53.6 million metric tons of electronic waste. That’s the equivalent of about 2,272 Titanic-sized ocean liners, or one Titanic’s worth of e-waste produced every four hours.

Recommended articles
https://www.adweek.com/brand-marketing/the-worlds-titanic-sized-electronic-waste-problem-is-only-getting-bigger/