Tom Durian Leaving WTMJ After Eight Years

WTMJ morning anchor Tom Durian is leaving the Milwaukee NBC affiliate at the end of the month.

Durian joined the station in February 2017. He's co-anchored TMJ4 News Today for more than three years.

"From new co-anchors to new strategies and everything in between, Tom's provided a steadying presence in the morning and for that we're extremely grateful," news director Tim Vetscher said. "Thank you, Tom, for eight great years on the TMJ4 News team and for waking up extra early these past three."

"I am very proud of the work we have done over the years here," said Durian. "I am thankful for the opportunities that you all have given me over the years," Tom added.

His final day on air will be Thursday, July 31.

Recommended videos
https://www.adweek.com/tvspy/tom-durian-leaving-wtmj-after-eight-years/