

Twitter removed half its HQ sign – then the police arrived

At approximately 12:39 P.M. officers assigned to Tenderloin Station responded to the area of 10th and Market Street regarding a report of a possible unpermitted street closure.

Through their investigation officers were able to determine that no crime was committed, and this incident was not a police matter.

<https://www.theverge.com/2023/7/24/23140317/twitter-sign-sf-hq-removal-demolition-police>