Waste Age: What Can Design Do?

Through 22 February 2022
London

The Design Museum’s latest exhibtion, Waste Age, explores how design is the answer to leaving our throwaway culture behind and be the #EndofWasteChange.

We all know waste is a big problem. So how are we going to fix it?

A new generation of designers is rethinking our relationship to everyday things. From fashion to food, electronics to construction, even packaging – finding the lost value in our trash and imagining a future of clean materials and a circular economy could point the way out of the Waste Age.

Explore major new exhibits that capture the devastating impact of waste including a large-scale art installation by Ibrahim Mahama made from e-waste in Ghana.

The exhibition showcases some of the visionary designers who are reinventing our relationship with waste, including Formafantasma, Stella McCartney, The Ellen MacArthur Foundation, Lacaton & Vassal, Fernando Laposse, Bethany Williams, Phoebe English and Natsai Audrey Chieza.

Through 22 February 2022. The Design Museum, 224-283 Kensington High Street, London, W8 6AG.

Book tickets today to secure your space!

https://www.shillingtoneducation.com/blog/waste-age-can-design/