Thursday, March 16, 2023 | 1:00 PM Eastern Daylight Time – Register

Innovative cyber attacks are on the rise—threatening corporate and government infrastructure, supply chains, brand reputations, and revenues. One of the best ways to prepare for the evolving threats of tomorrow is to revisit the details of recent major cybersecurity incidents. The benefit of hindsight can help us spot warning signs and avoid poor security practices in our organizations.

Join us today at 1PM ET as we walk through three recent use cases where a new threat caught organizations off-guard. We'll discuss:

- How to recognize the tactics, techniques, and procedures (or TTPs) that attackers used in each threat instance
- Best practice tips that organizations can use to improve both their resilience to new threats and their response times to incidents
- Threat landscape predictions for 2023
